

FOXIT HELPS K-12 DISTRICTS OPERATE WITH EASE

CASE STUDY

When the staff at The John McGivney Children's Centre School (JMCC) were looking to upgrade their PDF software, they needed something that would meet their needs and their budget. That's where Foxit came in. Austin Tyrrell, Communication Technology Assistant at JMCC explained,

"The Key factor in our decision was the perpetual licensing. We really needed something we wouldn't have to pay for every single year, once we tried it we decided Foxit had everything we needed."

Saving K-12 More Than Just Money

Foxit didn't just fit into the budget. Its familiar interface and staff support made it easy for JMCC to implement the technology into their daily workflow. Now they can spend less time learning to use the software or editing documents and more time focused on what really matters—their students.

"Personally, I think the layout is intuitive and consistent. It made it really easy for our staff to use and was great for user experience. This operates just like any other PDF software I have used, but the design really makes it stand out."

– Austin Tyrrell, Communication Technology Assistant at JMCC

Foxit PDF Editor was the perfect solution that combined all the features they needed in a single platform. With Foxit PDF Editor, JMCC is able to easily and efficiently edit and update PDFs, and they are viewable on all devices and easy to edit, making the entire learning process seamless.

Streamlined Workflows and Deployment

The scope and accessibility of features in Foxit PDF Editor met all of the needs JMCC had and more. Not only are students and faculty able to create and manage accessible content, but Foxit has also helped to improve their administrative workflows. Foxit makes it easy to process, sign, and file documents—saving the team at JMCC time, resources, and frustration.

"Foxit enables us to create a more consistent user experience for staff, students, and stakeholders."
