

Perpetual and Subscription Licenses

Perpetual licenses offer a long-term solution for potentially lower costs but have two crucial downsides compared to subscriptions. Subscriptions cost less to start, making the barrier to solving your problem much lower. Also, subscriptions do not have an end to their update cycle. You never have to worry about missing important security updates or cutting-edge upgrades. Perpetual licenses can lead to missing out on productivity and efficiency advancements, which is costly.

Just the Facts*

- 70% of adults are subscribed to at least one service.
- 74% are convinced that subscription-based models for entertainment, goods, and services are here to stay.
- 57% claim they are no longer interested in owning these goods.
